

He is the Healer, the Almighty, the All-Wise.

O Most Great Branch! By God! Thine illness¹ hath saddened Me, but God will heal Thee and protect Thee. He is the Most Generous, the Best of Helpers.

The glory of God rest upon Thee and upon whosoever serveth Thee and circleth around Thee. Woe, great woe, betide him that opposeth and injureth Thee. Well is it with him that sweareth fealty to Thee; the fire of hell torment him who is Thine enemy.

—Bahá'u'lláh

1 Literally “cold”. ↔
